

About RE Developers

A Family Legacy in Design & Development

RE Developers is a family-owned real estate development and design studio shaped by a shared love for architecture, craftsmanship, and creating homes that truly feel special.

For our family, this work goes far beyond building houses. It is about care, intention, and pride in every decision made along the way. Each project carries our name and reflects decades of combined experience in architecture, engineering, construction, and land development.

We develop both thoughtfully designed spec homes and fully custom residences. Our spec homes are created from a curated collection of well-researched, carefully planned layouts that reflect how people live today, balancing functionality, aesthetics, and long-term value. For clients seeking something more personal, we offer custom homes designed from the ground up, tailored to individual lifestyles, tastes, and site conditions.

From the first conversation through construction and final detailing, we remain closely involved at every stage. This hands-on approach allows us to deliver homes that feel refined, intentional, and enduring, spaces that are as beautiful to live in as they are to own.

Our Approach

We believe the best homes are created when:

- Design is intentional
- Construction is thoughtful
- Details are never rushed

Each project is guided by the belief that architecture endures and reputation is earned. We bring the same level of care, attention, and design discipline to every home, regardless of scale. Our thoughtfully designed residences are created to stand the test of time, both in the way they are built and in the way they are lived in.

We collaborate with a trusted team of seasoned professionals, including experts with over 35 years of experience in the Valley, who bring deep local knowledge, established relationships, and respected reputations. This is complemented by cutting-edge talent and forward-thinking partners, allowing us to blend proven expertise with fresh perspective. The result is a team built on trust, precision, and a shared commitment to excellence.

Meet Our Team

Shishir Gupta

Engineering, Construction & Global Development

Shishir Gupta is an engineer with an MBA and over 25 years of global experience in construction, land development, and business leadership.

Having worked across international markets, Shishir brings a broad, global understanding of construction methodologies, materials, and sourcing strategies. His extensive network allows

RE Developers to access high-quality, globally sourced materials and products, giving clients options that go beyond standard, off-the-shelf solutions.

He leads the technical execution of each project with a focus on structural integrity, efficiency, and long-term value. His ability to combine engineering precision with business acumen ensures that every home is built responsibly, intelligently, and with enduring quality.

Shaguni Gupta

Architecture, Design & Development

Shaguni Gupta brings over 12 years of experience in architecture, residential design, and interior design, shaped by a lifelong exposure to construction and development.

With a trained eye for space, proportion, and materiality, she approaches each project as both an architect and a designer. Her work is defined by refined layouts, elegant interiors, and a strong understanding of how people actually live in their homes.

Shaguni is closely involved in every design decision, from architectural planning to interior finishes, ensuring that each home feels intentional, elevated, and timeless. Clients appreciate her ability to translate vision into spaces that feel both sophisticated and deeply livable.

Anju Gupta

Civil Engineering, Landscape Design & Client Experience

Anju Gupta is a civil engineer who brings both technical expertise and a deeply personal perspective to the RE Developers team.

In addition to her knowledge of site planning, landscape design, and outdoor integration, Anju contributes something equally valuable, an intuitive understanding of how a house becomes a home. As a mother, she naturally focuses on the small details that shape daily living, flow, comfort, and warmth.

Her involvement ensures that spaces feel thoughtful, welcoming, and human. From outdoor areas to subtle interior considerations, Anju's personal touch helps create homes that are not only well-designed, but genuinely lived-in and loved.
